

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system for simultaneous surveying and data collection from multiple types of electronic communication devices. The invention provides an apparatus and process for (1) creating a survey, (2) simultaneously publishing the survey to respondents via a plurality of types of electronic communications devices, and (3) making the results of the survey available to the creator of the survey via communications devices of the creator's choice.

PHIL1: 397278-1